Employability

Fairs

There are several career fairs held at NTU over the course of the academic year. These include:

- City Placement and Graduate Fair
- Clifton Placement and Graduate Fair
- Property and Construction Fair
- Brackenhurst Fair
- Law Fair
- Graduate and Placement Fair
- Creative EXPO

Employer presentations

Whether you choose to host an online webinar or come onto campus, employer presentations are a fantastic way to exclusively raise awareness of your brand amongst the student community, promote live opportunities, as well as provide students with an insight into your recruitment processes (and therefore ensure the best quality applications).

Tip: Think about the target audience of your presentation and what you would like to achieve as an employer; be it attracting final years to live graduate roles, promoting placement opportunities, encouraging applications for summer internships, or raising awareness of any of your company's other competitions, projects or initiatives.

Our Employability team can advise you on how to deliver a successful presentation.

Mock assessment centres

Mock assessment centres involve a series of tasks and activities which test students' capabilities and suitability for specific business cultures and their job roles.

As more employers move towards using assessment centres to select talent for volume recruitment campaigns, NTU are committed to ensuring our students get the best chance at succeeding in these processes.

We therefore run a series of mock assessment centres where we welcome representation from a diverse range of employers to deliver sessions which reflect current business practices.

Employer benefits of mock assessment centres:

- Allows employers to see students demonstrate a wider range of skills than is possible during a traditional interview.
- Enables employers to provide professional feedback and coaching support whilst students practise their skills in a risk-free environment.

We can also facilitate

- Pop-ups/ takeover weeks
- Skills sessions
(e.g. CV and resume writing, LinkedIn guidance, commercial awareness development)
- Supporting degree shows
- Mentoring opportunities
- Employability awards
- Industry advisory boards
- Guest lectures

Social mobility

As our student body is profoundly diverse, social mobility is extremely important to us as a university. We recognise the need to facilitate equal opportunities and ensure success for all. We aim to reflect these values in our events, initiatives and whilst we have employers on campus.

A note to employers

Actively engaging with students on and off campus is an important part of building an effective talent attraction strategy; meeting students (online or in-person) and having open conversations directly with students immediately humanises you as a potential employer and has a strong bearing on how students view your business.

Your culture, practices, USPs, business direction, and employee experiences can all be communicated with ease, and in turn, you can learn more about individual students' skills and capabilities.

It is not necessary for employers to participate in all campus activities NTU provides. However, by working closing with your contact within the Employability team and outlining your business aims, we can advise you on the best approach to take and evaluate the best time of the year to take part in different events.
