

Allotment work party

NTU VOLUNTEERING OPPORTUNITY!

The foodshare allotment produces organic, seasonal and fresh produce for local charities to reduce their food miles and cost to support those in need. A lifestyle of sourcing sustainable food is free and accessible through the allotment for local community kitchens. Previous harvests have included tomatoes, broad beans, carrots, beetroot, berries, potatoes and much more, which is all available to the volunteers for free!

Volunteering at the work party supports physical and mental well-being, whilst contributing to your student HEAR report when you graduate. The allotment is ideal for meeting new people and learning new practical gardening skills. There will be opportunities to carve the pumpkins, cook the produce and teach your new knowledge to other students and visiting groups of brownies and pupils.

The work party is every 1-3 pm Wednesday (term time). Volunteers should meet at the allotment behind the Peverell halls reception on Clifton campus.
