Freedom Of Information Act 2000 – Publication Scheme

Date: 21/02/2023

1. Introduction

In implementing the Freedom of Information Act 2000 Nottingham Trent University promotes transparency in the way we make our decisions and by providing clear information about our policies and processes through our publication scheme. We deal with individual requests for information courteously and promptly and provide advice and assistance if necessary.

2. What is Freedom Of Information?

The Freedom of Information Act 2000 gives a general right of access to all types of recorded information held by public authorities. It lists exemptions from that right and places a number of obligations on public authorities.

3. What is a publication scheme?

A Publication Scheme is a guide to the classes of information that the University publishes or intends to publish routinely. The term “published” is broad and is not limited to information produced in paper forms. As far as the Freedom of Information Act 2000 is concerned, information made publicly available has been published. Therefore, information on the University’s website is as much part of the Publication Scheme as printed documents.

4. What are classes of information?

A requirement of the Act is to specify “classes” of information that the University will publish within its Publication Scheme.

The Information Commissioner has issued a ‘Model Publication Scheme’ and from 1st January 2009 the University has adopted the ‘Model Scheme’.

The Model Scheme contains 7 classes of information, and these are as follows: -

- Who we are and what we do
- What we spend and how we spend it
- What our priorities are and how we are doing
- How we make decisions
- Our policies and procedures
- Lists and registers
- The services we offer

Examples of the type of information available are given under the Guide to Information;
<https://www.ntu.ac.uk/about-us/governance/freedom-of-information>

5. How will I request additional information not covered by the scheme?

The University includes as much information in the Publication Scheme as it reasonably can. If you cannot find what you are looking for you can make a request for information. However, where any of the information comes within an exempt category either under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 or other relevant legislation, it will be published or made available with the exempt material deleted.

6. Will I be charged for information?

Material which is published and accessed on the website can be downloaded free of charge. Some information may only be available in hard copy and some information will only be available for inspection. Charges may be made for information subject to a legal charging regime. Charges under the publication scheme may be made for actual disbursements such as: -

- Photocopying
- Printing
- Postage and packaging
- The cost directly incurred as a result of viewing information.

The University will notify the requester in advance of incurring any costs.
