
Volunteering time and skills at Age UK - Interior Architecture & Design

Area of Focus

To create an environment that inspires, energises and rejuvenates.

The Project's aim was to produce new colour schemes for the walls, doors and ceilings for all rooms at Age UK Head Office in Nottingham. Age UK wanted the design to incorporate the sourcing of and position of Canvasses or pictures from their library, together with plants and mirrors that would help to produce an airy and inspiring environment.

Year 2 Interior Architecture & Design students volunteered their time to bring about positive change in the working environment with a small budget and for a charity that spends its time working for the good of older people in the community.

They used their design flair, the ability to listen and worked to a tight time scale, their willingness to work with the charity to find something that Age UK were happy to progress with and within budget proved successful.

The chosen designs were implemented with the student group visiting and photographing their ideas. They each also received a branded letter from Age UK to add to their CV and Amazon vouchers from NTU.
