

Knowledge

Experience

'We are educated
for a world that does not exist'.

Peter Sims, author of SMALL BETS and Founder-CEO of Parliament, Inc.

October 2018 (SCALE-UP setting)

- 'We are educated for a world that does not exist'.
- In your group of 3, discuss the extent to which you agree with the above statement.
- On your whiteboard, jot down 3 reasons why you think the above statement is true or false.
- When you're done, share your views with other groups at your table.

We are educated
for a world that exists.

Politics and International Relations students at NTU

October 2018/March 2019

- What can you do to be educated for a world that exists?
 - How can studying Politics and/or International Relations help you achieve that?
- What kind of skills do you think will help you get a good job in the future?
 - How will you achieve/gain those?

October 2018/March 2019

- What can you do to be educated for a world that exists?
 - How can studying Politics and/or International Relations help you achieve that?
- What kind of attitudes and behaviours will make you more employ-able?
- How will you gain, practice and use those?
 - When? Why?

Experiential learning for PIR students at NTU

UNDERGRADUATE PROVISION

- Politics and International Relations in Practice (all 1st year students)
- Working with Politics and International Relations (all 2nd year students)
- Applied/work-based dissertations (option available to 3rd year students)

POSTGRADUATE PROVISION

- Applied/work-based dissertations (option available to MA students)

Politics and IR in practice (1st year, core module)

Curriculum

Personalisation

Employability

Politics and IR in practice

- do at least 20 hours of activity/activities related to Politics and/or IR throughout this academic year
- think and write about how the above activity/activities link with the material you study and allow you to understand it better – critical reflection
- personal tutors will monitor and assess your work

- Curriculum

- Personalisation

- Employability

- ✓ community of learners

- ✓ community of practitioners

We are educated
for a world that is likely to exist in the future.

Politics and International Relations students at NTU

Presenters' contact details

Dr Janka Lloyd:
janka.lloyd@ntu.ac.uk

Mr Darrell West:
darrell@octopusintelligence.com